of all body systems...

over 90%
respond!

even when
infections are difficult to treat...
pathogens prove resistant
to other agents...
previous therapy fails...

From its introduction to today, Signemycin has repeatedly exhibited an extremely high rate of response in a host of confirmed infections of all body systems. From an exhaustive and continuing analysis of the world literature on Signemycin involving over 5,000 cases to date, the fact has been established that over 90% of patients respond. Moreover, this high rate of response is remarkably consistent year after year, in study after study, providing clinical proof that the effectiveness of Signemycin has not been diminished by continued use.

No renal, hepatic, neurologic or hemopoietic complications reported, although millions have received therapy. Side effects are infrequent, generally mild and transient, and usually confined to minor intestinal symptoms. Tolerability has been excellent in both young and old.

Only a trial in your own practice could be more convincing than the worldwide record of Signemycin.
